

SRS West Continues Strong Growth, Expands Team.

Scottsdale, AZ – April 6, 2010. Strategic Risk Solutions (SRS), a provider of captive management and consulting services, announced the addition of Andrew Marson, as Account Manager in its Scottsdale, AZ office. The addition of Mr. Marson is in response to the continued growth that the company has experienced in its western region operations.

SRS established its western region operations in 2007 with the hiring of Ann Wick, former head of AIG's domestic captive operations and a former President of VCIA. Since that time, SRS has added clients in Arizona, Nevada, Utah and Hawaii. Ms. Wick has also served as President of AzCIA and currently sits on the Nevada Division of Insurance's Advisory Committee of Captive Insurers.

"We are very pleased with the development of SRS West over the past 3 years," said Brady Young, President of Strategic Risk Solutions. "We have experienced steady growth and been able to expand into different western domiciles. We continue to see strong interest from captive owners in our combined management and consulting approach. The recent additions of Andrew Marson and Judy Nako provide us with more capability to support our current and future clients in the West," added Young.

SRS recently announced the addition of Judy Nako and the establishment of a local presence in Hawaii. Ms. Nako is the former Acting Deputy Commissioner and Captive Insurance Administrator for the State of Hawaii.

Andrew Marson joins SRS from Marsh Management Services in the Cayman Islands, where he was an Account Manager. He was previously an auditor with Grant Thornton. "Andrew is a terrific addition to not only the SRS West team but the Arizona captive community. He brings captive management expertise and healthcare experience which will be invaluable in supporting our captive clients in the western domiciles", said Ann Wick, President, Strategic Risk Solutions (Arizona).

Mr. Marson will also join the SRS Healthcare industry practice, which is responsible for co-ordinating the delivery of services to healthcare captives across domiciles. Healthcare captives account for more than one third of the captives currently managed by SRS.
