

David Lewis to join Strategic Risk Solutions

Dublin, Ireland – June 10, 2019. Strategic Risk Solutions Europe (“SRS Europe”), a provider of captive insurance management and consulting services announced today that David Lewis will be joining the company on October 1st. Mr. Lewis joins the firm from Willis Towers Watson where he held an Executive Member position in the Global Captive Practice. His duties included global growth initiatives, strategic planning and client service delivery.

“I have had the opportunity to work with many of the industry’s leading professionals and firms in my career to date. However, I have always held a deep respect and admiration for independent firms and am enthusiastically looking forward to now join one as established and exciting as SRS”, said David Lewis. “SRS has an impressive track record in serving its clients. I look forward to this next adventure in my career to support SRS as they continue to export the successful client service model and advisory services in to Europe”, added Lewis.

SRS is currently the fifth largest captive insurance management company worldwide and the largest independent manager. Mr. Lewis is joining as Managing Director of SRS Europe based out of SRS’s London office responsible for business development and creating and implementing strategic growth initiatives. He will work closely with colleagues across the SRS Group to identify areas of opportunity in the European, US and international market place.

“If you speak to many in the captive industry about David the feedback is consistent, a genuine professional and personable colleague, an individual always willing and able to deliver”, said Brady Young, President and CEO of Strategic Risk Solutions. “Our successful model is attributed to attracting and retaining world class talent to serve our clients with the high standards we demand of ourselves. I am delighted to welcome David to SRS and look forward to his no doubt valuable contribution to the firm”, added Young.

“We have built a solid foundation for SRS in Europe and see strong opportunities for expansion in a number of targeted sectors. David’s extensive experience in the captive industry as well as his ability to successfully build businesses will be invaluable as the firm enters its next phase of expansion in to major European captive domiciles”, said Stuart King, President of SRS Europe.
