"We congratulate all the students who participated in the collegiate captive scholars program during 2019. We were impressed by the quality of the young men and women involved in the program and hope that they found the experience beneficial. More importantly, we hope that this experience will lead them to pursue a career in the captive insurance industry" said Brady Young, CEO, Strategic Risk Solutions. "We have been pleased with the program in 2019 and will continue it in 2020 and beyond. We extend a special thanks to the captive associations for providing the conference registrations which helped make this program possible", added Young.

The program is open to undergraduate students enrolled in risk management, insurance, finance, and accounting majors. For more information about the program contact Derick White at SRS (derick.white@strategicrisks.com).
